CSNA was formed in 1968, so 2008 was its 40th anniversary.
The Classification Society was formed in 1964, so 2014 was its 50th anniversary.

A Classification Society (CS) was founded in the UK on 17 April 1964 during a conference of ASLIB, a society of British librarians. In 1968, its North American members founded the American Branch of the CS, later renamed the Classification Society of North America. The British group was called the European Branch of the CS at that time and renamed the British Classification Society on 1 June 1984.

The North American Branch was active from 1969 until 1984, when it was incorporated as the Classification Society of North America. (From Classification Society of North America Twentieth Anniversary, WHE Day and RR Sokal, JoC, 6: 169-170, 1989)
