

SCIENCE & HUMAN RIGHTS ESSAY COMPETITION

OPEN TO UNDERGRADUATE & GRADUATE STUDENTS

WHEN IS THE DEADLINE?

April 30, 2018

WHAT TYPES OF ESSAYS?

Analytical or critical papers up to 1,500 words that raise thought-provoking questions exploring the intersections of science and human rights.

DETAILS, RULES, AND HOW TO ENTER:
WWW.AAAS.ORG/SHR2018ESSAY

PRIZES

One year of free membership in AAAS, which includes a subscription to Science, career development resources, and all other benefits of membership

Travel to the July 2018 AAAS Science and Human Rights Meeting in Washington, DC

Essays will be published by AAAS

Prizes provided by the AAAS - Andrew M. Sessler Fund for Science, Education, and Human Rights

SPONSOR

The AAAS Science and Human Rights Coalition, a network of scientific associations that recognize a role for science and engineering in advancing human rights

Science and
Human Rights
Coalition

SCIENCE & HUMAN RIGHTS DIGITAL MEDIA COMPETITION

OPEN TO UNDERGRADUATE
& GRADUATE STUDENTS

WHEN IS THE DEADLINE?

April 30, 2018

WHAT TYPES OF PROJECTS?

Online digital media projects that highlight connections between science and human rights

EXAMPLES: Videos • Podcasts • Games • Apps
• Social Media • Music • Interactive Maps

DETAILS, RULES AND HOW TO ENTER:
WWW.AAAS.ORG/SHR2018DIGITAL

PRIZES

One year of free membership in AAAS, which includes a subscription to Science, career development resources, and all other benefits of membership

Cash prizes – visit website for more details

Recognition at a AAAS Science and Human Rights Meeting

Prizes provided by the AAAS - Andrew M. Sessler Fund for Science, Education, and Human Rights

SPONSOR

The AAAS Science and Human Rights Coalition, a network of scientific associations that recognize a role for science and engineering in advancing human rights

Science and
Human Rights
Coalition